

Sociology 995: Demography of Health and Aging Brown Bag Series
Schedule for Fall 2006

Wednesday, September 6

Deborah Carr, University of Wisconsin, Sociology

Organizational Meeting

2:15-3:45 PM, 6240 William H. Sewell Social Science Building

Wednesday, September 13

Jung-hwa Ha, University of Wisconsin, Waisman Center

Changes in Social Relationships following Late-Life Spousal Loss

2:15-3:45 PM, 6240 William H. Sewell Social Science Building

Wednesday, September 20

Megan Andrew, University of Wisconsin, Sociology

Two Sides of the Same Coin: A Life Course Model of the Relationship between Social Status and Physical and Mental Health

2:15-3:45 PM, 6240 William H. Sewell Social Science Building

Wednesday, September 27

No Seminar is scheduled for this week

Wednesday, October 4

Harold Lentzner, National Center for Health Statistics

Elsie Pamuk, National Center for Health Statistics

Using National Center for Health Statistics Data: An Interactive Workshop

2:15-3:45 PM, 8411 William H. Sewell Social Science Building

Wednesday, October 11

Tetyana Pudrovska, University of Wisconsin, Sociology

Deborah Carr, University of Wisconsin, Sociology

Parenthood and Psychological Well-being in Late Midlife

2:15-3:45 PM, 6240 William H. Sewell Social Science Building

Wednesday, October 18

No Seminar is scheduled for this week.

Seminar participants are encouraged to attend the UW Institute on Aging 18th Annual Colloquium on Aging

8:30 AM - 2 PM, Monona Terrace, 1 John Nolen Drive

Wednesday, October 25

Betty Kramer, University of Wisconsin, Social Work

Family Conflict at the End-of-Life: Lessons Learned in a Model Program for Vulnerable Older Adults

2:15-3:45 PM, 6240 William H. Sewell Social Science Building

Wednesday, November 1

Sara Moorman, University of Wisconsin, Sociology

Deborah Carr, University of Wisconsin, Sociology

Do Spouses Know Each Other's End-of-Life Treatment Preferences? Evidence from the Wisconsin Longitudinal Study

2:15-3:45 PM, 6240 William H. Sewell Social Science Building

Wednesday, November 8

John Delamater, University of Wisconsin, Sociology

Janet Hyde, University of Wisconsin, Psychology

Mei-Chia Fong, University of Wisconsin, Sociology

Sexual Behavior at Ages 62-67: A Biopsychosocial Approach

Hanna Grol-Prokopczyk, University of Wisconsin, Sociology

Obesity and Marriage Prospects across the Life Course: Further Evidence of a Discriminatory Marriage Market

2:15-3:45 PM, 6240 William H. Sewell Social Science Building

Wednesday, November 15

James Raymo, University of Wisconsin, Sociology

Megan Sweeney, UCLA, Sociology

Kathryn Coursolle, UCLA, Sociology

JeongHwa Ho, University of Wisconsin, Sociology

The Effect of Retirement on Emotional Well-Being: Does Marriage Matter?

Deborah Carr, University of Wisconsin, Sociology

Kathrin Boerner, Arlene R. Gordon Research Institute, Lighthouse International

"His" and "Hers" Marriage: How Spousal Discrepancies in Marital Quality Assessments Affect Psychological Adjustment to Widowhood.

2:15-3:45 PM, 6240 William H. Sewell Social Science Building

Wednesday, November 22

Happy Thanksgiving!

No seminar is scheduled for this week

Wednesday, November 29

Anne van Putten, Netherlands Interdisciplinary Demographic Institute

The Relationship between the Provision of Instrumental Support to Elderly Parents and the Labor Division of Adult Children and their Partners

2:15-3:45 PM, 6240 William H. Sewell Social Science Building

Wednesday, December 6

Jeonghwa Ho, University of Wisconsin, Sociology

Jim Raymo, University of Wisconsin, Sociology

Joint Retirement among Dual-Worker Couples: Expectations and Outcomes

2:15-3:45 PM, 6240 William H. Sewell Social Science Building

Wednesday, December 13

Noelle Chesley, University of Wisconsin-Milwaukee, Sociology

Dual-Earner Couple Contagion: Do Changes in Negative Work Spillover Predict Shifts in Spousal Well-Being?

2:15-3:45 PM, 6240 William H. Sewell Social Science Building