Mytoan Nguyen Named to MSS/ASA Minority Fellowship

The American Sociological Association has named Mytoan Nguyen the recipient of the 2011-12 MSS Minority Fellowship. A doctoral candidate in sociology at the University of Wisconsin-Madison, Mytoan is currently writing her dissertation on ethnic return migration from developed to developing countries, focusing on refugees’ children returning to Vietnam.

Her interest in migration and return migration arose naturally from her own international experiences. Born in Vietnam, she grew up in San Jose, California, but has also lived in Melbourne, Australia; Santiago, Chile; and in Ho Chi Minh City, Vietnam.

“My family and I came to the U.S. as boatpeople,” she said. “And obviously, my dissertation has a connection to historical and social forces that have influenced my own trajectory. For my research in Vietnam, I benefited by reconnecting with distant extended relatives who could not leave Vietnam after the war.”

Mytoan earned a bachelor’s degree in political economy of industrial societies at the University of California-Berkeley, which she credits with helping her to develop a global perspective. She also holds a master’s degree in Australian Studies/Refugee Studies from the University of Melbourne.

Currently, Mytoan is at work on her dissertation, which explores diasporic extended family relations, social class, and global diasporic identity-making within global cities, with insights based on the experiences of Vietnamese Americans from the post-1975 wave of U.S. refugees. She focuses on a small subset of Vietnamese Americans who are now finding opportunities for skilled work in Ho Chi Minh City, Vietnam.

“My passion for teaching is one of the reasons I decided to pursue a Ph.D. in sociology,” Mytoan said. “I believe education is the great leveler of the playing field in U.S. society.”

Mytoan’s passion for teaching inspired her volunteer work as founder and coordinator of the Telling Our Stories in Madison youth mentorship writing project that engaged Madison high-schoolers in crafting their own creative non-fiction stories based on their own interviews and research on their family history.

“I had been reflecting about what it means to be in Madison, but to have your history come from somewhere else that isn’t just the dominant and hegemonic Midwestern construction of Wisconsin identity,” she said. “The volunteers I recruited were individuals who were personally invested in volunteering hundreds of hours of their time to further this conversation about identity. The ideas led to one small grant, which led to a large project, which led to a mentorship project, then an anthology, then a larger grant, then a similar project version 2.0, and finally a web anthology release.”

Irwin Deutscher Will Give Keynote Address at Annual Meeting

Dr. Irwin Deutscher will keynote the MSS Annual Meeting with a presentation forged from his lifetime of experience in sociology. His preliminary title is: “Toward a Sociology of Sociology, or How to Study What You Think is Important and Do It the Way You Like While Pretending to Conform to Academic Ritual: The Case of Intergroup Violence Around the World.”

A long-time member of MSS, Dr. Deutscher is Professor Emeritus of Sociology at the University of Akron. He holds B.A. (Philosophy), M.S. (Statistics), M.A. (Sociology) and Ph.D. (Sociology) degrees from the University of Missouri. He has held professorships at Syracuse University, Case Western Reserve University, and the University of Amsterdam in the Netherlands as well as visiting professorships at Ohio State University, The University of California at Berkeley, The University of California at San Diego, and Calcutta University in India. He is past president of two national and two regional sociological societies and is the author of nine books and more than a hundred articles and book reviews.

Dr. Deutscher holds the Annondale Memorial Medal for distinguished service to Indian Anthropology. Among his other honors and awards are the American Sociological Association’s Distinguished Career Award for the Practice of Sociology (1997) and the Lee Founders Award from the Society for the Study of Social Problems (1997).

His 2002 volume, Accommodating Diversity: National Policies That Prevent Ethnic Conflicts (Lexington Books) described a set of national policies which have successfully avoided ethnic conflict. Among these are two remarkable pieces of legislation dating back to the mid-1970’s— one in Sweden and the other in Ghana. A central theme of the book is the debate about the desirability of national unity versus national diversity, an issue with special resonance for an increasing number of nations, including our own.

With the assistance of Professor Linda Lindsey, an updated teaching edition of Accommodating Diversity: National Policies That Prevent Ethnic Conflicts was published in 2004 under the title: Preventing Ethnic Conflict: Successful Cross-National Strategies. Deutscher and Lindsey are currently working on a new edition of that volume.

Dr. Deutscher is perhaps best known for What We Say/What We Do: Sentiments and Acts (1973, Scott, Foresman).

He served in the South Pacific with the Marines in World War II and holds two distinguished flying crosses and nine air medals. A single-handed sailor for most of his life, Dr. Deutscher has sailed both North American coasts as well as the Great Lakes and the Baltic Sea. He plays clarinet and saxophone in several Washington-area ensembles. As a volunteer with Amnesty International, he served as Legislative Coordinator for Washington, D.C. He currently serves as a volunteer docent at the U.S. Library of Congress.

Deutscher resides in Washington D.C. with his wife, Verda. His plenary address to the Midwest Sociological Society Annual Meeting will take place on Friday, March 30.
Top Ten Things to Do in the Twin Cities

By Local Arrangements Chair Sue Smith-Cunnien

Most of us will spend our time at the 2012 MSS meetings in Minneapolis attending sessions, committee meetings and the great plenary sessions and MSS 75th anniversary events that are being planned. But at the end of the day (or the end of the conference!) some folks will want to explore what makes the Twin Cities such a great place. While the possibilities are endless, here are ten things you might want to do. Some are free, some are pricey; some are family-friendly, some are for the “discerning sophisticate;” some are close to our home base at the Marriott City Center and some are farther out in the metro area.

1 Grab a nature break. We’re not called the Land of 10,000 Lakes for nothing. Even downtown, you can head to Loring Park and walk around a lake (okay, pond). Or cross the downtown and stroll along the Mississippi. Take a peek at a city map and you’ll find numerous lakes and parks, all with good walking and cycling paths. If you have only a few minutes, take a walk down Nicollet Mall or through the downtown skyways.

2 Explore the Minneapolis Institute of Arts. A 10-minute drive will get you to the MIA and its amazingly varied collections. No admission fee, but a $5 donation is encouraged.

3 Head to the Science Museum of Minnesota. On the banks of the Mississippi in downtown Saint Paul, this is always a winner with kids and adults. Coming in February: Real Pirates, an exhibit of authentic pirate treasures.

4 Enjoy a night out at the Dakota Jazz Club and Restaurant. Come for the music and enjoy a great meal. Maybe you’ll luck into one of their “Foodie Nights!”

5 Take in a play at the Guthrie. Now located in downtown Minneapolis in the Old Mill District, the Guthrie boasts a full schedule of plays, concerts and other events. Public tours are available at 10 AM on Fridays.

6 The Walker Art Center is internationally known for its contemporary art: You’ll find exhibitions, performing arts, films, and outdoor sculpture gardens.

7 Rent a Segway. It may be chilly, but it’s a great way to tour the Minneapolis riverfront or Saint Paul’s Summit Avenue area. See humansomastick.com or magicalhistorytour.com for more.

8 Relax -or rock out- with a concert. For classical music lovers - the Saint Paul Chamber Orchestra in downtown Saint Paul or the Minnesota Orchestra in downtown Minneapolis. Or check out who’s playing at the Target Center in Minneapolis.

9 Sports fan? Target Field, Minnesota’s major league ballpark, is located in downtown Minneapolis and baseball fans can tour the Twins’ new home. Tours run Thursday through Sunday in March.

10 Take the light rail to the Mall of America. Love it or hate it, the Mall of America is not to be missed by a sociologist. With its umpteen million stores, restaurants, movie theaters, carnival rides and sea life aquarium, there is a lot to see and do. www.MallofAmerica.com.

We look forward to seeing you in Minneapolis!

Proposals must be 1200 words or less, and include: a cover page; statement of the research problem; theoretical framework; summary of methodology and design; an itemized budget; and a brief budget justification. References should follow the ASA style guide.

The MSS Endowment Committee requires some additional items to complete the submission of your application. These are as follows:

1. Applicants are required to show proof of IRB approval or a completed IRB submission (The IRB submission does not need to be approved by your school at this time) before the application is processed.

2. Group projects, those consisting of two or more authors, need to be approved by the Endowment Committee before the application is processed.

3. Applicants are now required to clearly state what types of supplemental materials they need funded in order to carry out their research. Thus, the committee needs to know the entire expense of the project so that we can decide if the research can be successfully carried out in the one-year time period allotted.

4. Applicants are required to submit letters securing their permission to gain access to their proposed research sites. We will require a letter from the agency/organization that you seek to study.

5. Doctoral students who apply are required to have successfully passed their preliminary examinations and should be at the dissertation stage. A strong letter of support from the dissertation chair(s) is required.

6. Grant winners are expected to present their research findings at a special invited session at the Midwest Sociological Society annual meeting the following year. Please state in your application your intention of attending the MSS the following year to present your research findings if you are selected to receive MSS funding.

In addition to the application components listed above, applicants should include a C.V. and a list of references. Since applicants may not be able to send additional items via email, please include these in the hard copy version of ALL your application materials that need to be sent by snail mail. Remember to have your mailed application postmarked no later than February 15, 2012. The application submission process opens January 15, 2012, and closes before midnight, February 15, 2012. Call for Applications for MSS Visiting Scholar / Visiting Researcher Grants

The MSS Endowment Committee is accepting applications for the Visiting Scholar/Visiting Researcher Program. The purpose of the program is to support the dissemination of scholarship and research by providing funds for leading researchers and scholars to make short visits to colleges, universities, and state association meetings to share their knowledge and skills with faculty and students. The invited scholar/researcher must also be a member of the Midwest Sociological Society at the time of application. (To determine whether a scholar/researcher is a member in good standing, please contact MSS at MidwestSS@centurytel.net.) The grant provides up to $1000 (as long as funds are available) to cover transportation costs, incidental costs for the scholar/researcher while traveling to/from the host institution, and reasonable hotel/lodging expenses, while the host school provides meals, hospitality, and any honoraria. The scholar/researcher contributes his or her time and skill.

Visiting Scholars/Researchers may, among other things, participate in:
▪ Workshops on methodologies of interest
▪ Seminars on special sociological topics
▪ Public lectures on current issues
▪ Conferences with faculty members on their research
▪ Meetings with students interested in advanced work
▪ Classroom presentations
▪ Keynote presentations at state association meetings.

Applications can be submitted by host institutions year-round, and require a letter containing a plan for the visit, a letter of support from the host’s dean or equivalent academic administrator, the contact information for the invited scholar/researcher, a tentative schedule of dates and times, and a travel budget. You may name one or more scholars you would like to have for a visit. If you have no nominees, indicate the fields or specialties of particular interest to your students and faculty, and the committee will seek to recruit a scholar/researcher for the visit.

To apply, mail materials to:

calls for award nominations

Call for Nominations: MSS Distinguished Book Award*

The Midwest Sociological Society invites nominations for the MSS Annual Distinguished Book Award to recognize outstanding contributions to sociological research, theory and policy analysis. Eligible books advance sociological analysis in an original and substantive way and must have been copyrighted in 2009, 2010 or 2011. Books nominated during the past two years will be considered again, if new review copies are submitted. The author (or one co-author) must be a member of the MSS with a history of some involvement in the Society, such as conference presentation or publication in The Sociological Quarterly. The award includes a $250 prize. The selection committee is appointed by the MSS President.

All nominations are welcome. A complete nomination consists of a one-page letter of nomination identifying: 1) the nominated book title, author(s), publisher and copyright date; 2) the nominated author’s contact information (name, institutional affiliation, phone, mail and e-mail addresses); and 3) a short statement indicating why the book deserves recognition. In addition, 4) nominators are responsible for arranging THREE review copies to be sent to the MSS Executive Office along with the nomination. (Questions? Contact the exec office at (608)-787-8551 or by email to MidwestSS@centurytel.net.) Nominations and review copies are due Oct. 31, 2011.

Call for Nominations: Award for Teaching Excellence*

The Departmental Award for Teaching Excellence recognizes departments that have created innovative programs, curricula, or teaching and learning strategies for the effective education of graduate or undergraduate students in the discipline of sociology, and includes a $1000 prize. An award that promotes strategies and recognizes exemplars for teaching reform and revitalization speaks directly to the MSS mission of “advancing sociological knowledge, teaching, and practice for social scientific purposes and social betterment.”

Departments should submit their applications to the executive director of the MSS, who will forward them to the MSS Committee on Teaching and Learning for evaluation. Applications are due this year by Nov. 15, 2011.

Before nominating, see the complete award guidelines online or request them from the MSS Exec Office.

Call for Nominations: Early Career Scholarship Award*

The MSS Early Career Scholarship Award recognizes a number of publications by a younger scholar, working alone or with collaborators, which are particularly meritorious, creative or enlightening. The award is offered biennially and carries a cash prize of $500.

The Midwest Sociological Society offers the Early Career Scholarship Award in order to draw attention to the quality of scholarship being produced by younger scholars and to underscore the Society’s commitment to the professional development of younger scholars and researchers. The award is bestowed upon a body of work rather than a single publication or a group of unrelated publications. The scholarly work being recognized should stem from a discernible research agenda or theoretical approach. The recipient of the award must have received his or her terminal degree within the previous 10 years. Applications are due this year by Nov. 15, 2011.

Call for Nominations for the 2012 Annual Jane Addams Outstanding Service Award

The Women in the Profession Committee invites nominations for the Jane Addams Outstanding Service Award. Service to girls and women has traditionally been invisible and under-rewarded in society and in the discipline of sociology. This award is one effort to reward and make visible such efforts and to highlight positive role models who advance girls’ and women’s issues, causes, or status through personal involvement in service activities. Named after Jane Addams, this award will recognize, highlight, and award a modern-day individual who embodies the passion, dedication, and activism of Jane Addams through efforts to improve the status of girls or women. Individuals may receive the award for a sustained record of service to girls or women or for an intensive, short-term effort on behalf of girls or women. Award recipients may have performed such service inside or outside of the academy, in the Midwest, or beyond.

Nominations require a 1-2 page letter. Letters must clearly indicate the way in which the nominee has improved the experiences of girls or women, either in the academy or in specified communities, and should also indicate why these contributions are award-worthy. All current members of MSS are eligible to receive this award. Individuals may nominate themselves or others. Nominators need not be MSS members. Nomination letters should include email, phone, and mailing contact information for the nominee.

Nominations are due by Nov. 1, 2011.

Upon receipt of the nomination, the award coordinator will contact the nominee by email and request the following additional documentation: Current curriculum vitae, brief statement of service philosophy regarding girls or women’s issues, information about the service for which he/she is nominated, and two letters of support (one of which one should be from the community service agencies (or colleagues/former students if the service has been academic) with whom the nominee has worked). Letters of support need not be included in the packet mailed to the award coordinator. All documentation is due by January 10, 2012.

The WIPC committee will make selection based on the following criteria:
• Service philosophy statement (clear articulation of service philosophy, evidence of action combined with theory)
• Strength of service (possible measures include amount of commitment (time, level); strength of letters of support; sustainability—if applicable; originality)
• Vitae (possible measures include indication of service as long-term commitment; service integrated with scholarship)
• Letters of nomination will be kept on file. All non-awarded nominees will be asked to resubmit updated documentation for consideration for the following year for no more than 3 years.

Awardee will be recognized in the following manner:
• Recipient will be presented with the award at the MSS annual meeting in Minneapolis.
• Recipient will receive a commemorative plaque.
• Recipient will receive a $300 contribution in his or her name to a service organization (broadly defined) to which he or she has contributed time, effort and energies.
• WIPC will include an article in TMS about the winner.

All nominations and supporting documentation should be sent electronically to the Chair of the Women in the Profession Committee: Gina Petonito, petonig@muohio.edu. Letters of support may be sent by email, fax, or postal mail to: Gina Petonito, Department of Sociology and Gerontology, Miami University, 4200 East University Boulevard, Middletown, OH 45042-3497. Phone number: (513) 217-4177. Fax number: (513) 727-3462.

Three prizes in each division: 1st Prize: $250  2nd Prize: $150  3rd Prize: $100
All winners will also be given waiver of annual meeting registration fee.
Prizes may be picked up by the winner at the annual meeting in Minneapolis.
MSS reserves the right not to award prizes, or to award 2nd or 3rd prizes but no 1st.

2012 MSS Undergraduate Research Poster Session

Purpose: The Poster Session is designed to feature undergraduate work in sociology and promote interaction between all members of the Midwest Sociological Society.

“A poster presentation consists of an exhibit of materials that report research activities or informational resources in visual and summary form. Poster presentations provide a unique platform that facilitates personal discussion of work with interested colleagues and allows meeting attendees to browse through highlights of current research and ideas.”  -American Sociological Association

Content: Undergraduate students experience and study the “art” of sociology in many ways. This session is designed to feature these experiences and studies. Posters may present original research and data collection, theoretical works and applications, studies of public policy using sociological frameworks, as well as other forms of being engaged with the sociological imagination.

Format: Posters must be freestanding with the ability to be displayed on an easel. Posters can be created using Power Point or with more traditional methods and attached to a tri-panel board. More information on constructing posters will be sent to all students accepted into the session.

Expectations of Poster Presenters:

- Students must be members of the Midwest Sociological Society. Student membership fees are $23.

- Students must preregister for the meeting. Students must become members AND pre-register by February 1, 2012. Those who do not join and register will be dropped from the program and ineligible for the competition.

- Posters must be placed on easels in the exhibits area by 12:30 pm on Friday, March 30. They will be displayed for judging during Session 5, from 12:45 – 2:15. Students should be present during the poster session to answer questions about their projects. Posters should be left in place during the commons session and ice cream social following Session 5 and students should be available to talk about their posters with other members. Posters may be picked up by 3:30. If not picked up by 5:00, they can be claimed the next day at the MSS registration desk. All posters presented will be considered for the $200 Undergraduate Poster Competition prize, to be awarded by the Student Issues Committee.*

Other Information: Poster presentations are treated like other submissions for sessions at the MSS with two exceptions: (1) All poster presenters must have a faculty sponsor. (2) Poster presentations are submitted directly to the coordinator and are NOT submitted through the online paper-submission portal.

Submission Information: Submissions should be emailed to the session organizer Lisa Waldner (lkwaldner@stthomas.edu) by January 6, 2012. Submissions must include the following information:

POSTER TITLE:

AUTHOR(S): If there is more than one author, indicate with an asterisk (*) the principal author responsible for presenting the poster with that author’s address and email information.

FACULTY SPONSOR: Must be a current member of MSS; provide current address and email.

ABSTRACT: A summary of your poster in 100 words or less.
